Understanding the EU Tyre Label

Fuel consumption

Rolling resistance has a direct impact on fuel consumption. A tyre's rolling resistance score ranges from A to G. Over the life of the tyre, fitting an A rated tyre could save you fuel - when compared to a G rated tyre.

Wet grip

A tyre's wet grip capacity is expressed in Grades from A to G. Wet grip is an important safety characteristic of a tyres as it improves the braking distance of a vehicle. This makes average stopping distance between an A and G rated tyre 18m. That's 4 car lengths.

Noise levels 72 ◀) dB

The exterior noise grade of a tyre is expressed in decibels – accompanied by one, two or three sound waves, with one wave being the best noise level performance. To achieve the best grade, a tyre's noise level must be at least 3dB under the legal limit set by the EU.
